MADISON COUNTY PROMPTS MEETING TO DISCUSS RIGHTS OF TAX COMMISSION

At the instigation of Madison county, Judge Doak, County Judge particular mode of travel and he of Fayette county, called a meeting of the County Judges of the Bluething. After the parade, the pro- Grass whose assessments had been rejected by the State Tax Commission, to consider the question of the State Tax Commission's right to arbitrarily force the County Boards of Equalization to raise the assessment of a county, and the Commission's

The meeting was called by County Judge Doak, of Fayette county, in his office at Lexington, Ky., on May 17th, at 1 o'clock p. m., with Fayette, Madison, Boyle, Garrard, Clark, Shelby and Scott counties present, and after a general discussion of the situation, Judge Goodloe, of Madison county, suggested that the meeting be organized and put in nomination Judge Doak, of Fayette county, as chairman, which was promptly secof Central Church, Chicago, is the ly, Judge Goodloe put the vote and onded, assuming the chair temporari-

Judge Doak then taking the chair.

The sense of the meeting First: That the County Judge has no right under the law to re-assemble a County Board of Equalization. Second: That the County Board's action is final, except on appeal to the Courts.

Third: That the law giving the State Tax Commission the right to re-assess a county violates two sections of the Constitution.

Fourth: That the County Board is a Board of Equalization and has no right to raise or lower any assessment except where the evidence shows beyond a reasonable doubt that the assessment is too low.

Fifth: That the public interests of both the County and State demand a speedy and final determination of

Hospital Is Dedicated

Rheims, France - The American memorial Hospital for Children, the gift of women and children of the United States, was dedicated by My-ron T. Herrick, American ambassador, in the presence of a distinguished gathering. The hospital, which was founded by the American Fund for French Wounded, was given, as the ambassador told the citizens Rheims, "in the hope that you always will remember your comre from across the sea."

IN MEMORIAM

Break not the sweet repost Of the brave souls who lie beneath this earth Who battled for the land that gave them birth, Who marched away with song In the triumphant throng That surged along with never-tiring pace To break the bonds of a benighted race-Break not the sweet repose.

Shed not a single tear For those who fell while fighting for the right, For those who saw the gleam of Freedom's light, And shed their loyal blood With the great brotherhood That bravely marched to meet a gallant foe And bared their bosoms to the fatal blow-Shed not a single tear.

Lay just a wreath of flowers On this grave of hallowed memory, Above this soul that bled for Liberty, And with a grateful heart Before thou dost depart Speak words of kindness o'er this noble son And tell how Freedom by his death was won-Lay just a wreath of flowers.

Their fame be evermore! Our flag still floats in Freedom's balmy air, And Liberty rejoices everywhere O'er our dear native land Because this loyal band Went forth and fell that millions might be free. Went forth and fell for Right and Liberty. Their fame be evermore!

REVOLUTION IN BULGARIA

King Reported to Have Fled When Premier Proclaims Republic In Midst of Civil War

Vienna.-Conflicting reports of Bulgarian revolution have reached here. Dispatches from Belgrade sav that King Boris has fled to Varna and that Premier Stamboulisky, who represents the peasants and agrarians, has been expeeled.

Agram advices, however, declare that train from Soa arrived at Belgrade and those aboard reported comparative quiet, General Alexandrovhaving is sued a counter proclamatio nat Safia calling upon the populace to remain loyal to the King.

Tchitcherin and Stamboluisky, ac cording to an Agram paper, reached an agreement at Genoa that if the Bulgarian premier would expel Wrangel's troops from Bulgaria he would have the support of the Bulgarian Communis element. A dispatch to the Freis Presse from Sofia says that an attempt to carry out expulsion of these troops precipitated trouble.

SEEKS INDIANA COAL PARLEY

Operators' Official Proposes Conferto Settle Dispute.

Terre Haute, Ind., May 22.-Indiana coal operators, through P. H. Penna, secretary-treasurer of the Indiana Bituminous Coal Operators' association, has sent a letter to John Hessler, president of District No. 11, offering to meet the Indiana miners in a conference to settle the coal strike. Point ing out that a similar offer was made March 18, Mr. Penna says that the purpose of his communication is to renew the proposition "that we meet in joint conference of operators and miners of Indiana at as early a date as convenient to arrange an equitable scale of wages for work in and around the mines of our state, to the end that mining may be resumed, public incon-venience resulting from seven weeks of idleness relieved and the poverty and distress of many_families ended.

The return of Lloyd George to England reveals the fact that he has not lost his prestige or his popularity by the defeat of his plans at the Genoa Conference. With the exception of some of the newspapers which regularly oppose him, the premier is given credit for a plucky fight to bring about a better condition of things in Europe and to put thru a program of peace. In spite of the failure of his efforts Lloyd George gives credit to all the nations for an honest and genuine desire for peace. He does not even deny to Russia, Germany or France such a desire, tho it does not seem to be apparent at times. The ability of an English statesman to look on the better and more hopeful side of affairs is a sign of fitness for leadership at a time when things look confused and tangled to an onlooker.

Considerable pressure is likely to be brought to bear to secure the attendance of the U.S. in the Conference at the Hague. In spite of Secretary Hughes' prompt avowal of our purpose not to be there a possible way was left open in the assertion that the U. S. was not averse to sitting with a body of specialists, even though they were dealing with European affairs. More recently Vice President Coolidge, in an address before the Presbyterian General Assembly at Des Moines, Ia., set forth the necessity of the U.S. taking a more active part in world affairs, since we have already broken away from isolation. A last indication of a change in sentiment is a plan by Senator Borah for an international association centering around an international

The question of the independence of the Philippine Islands is again brought forcitly to public attention by the coming of a Commission for the Islands, representing the legislative body of the Islands, to ask for independence. The Harding administration is opposed to such independence, as is General Leonard Wood, who made a report to that effect and is now acting as Governor of the Islands. The visiting commission is a large one and they base their hopes on the belief that the Filipinos are now able to govern themselves, and have practically been doing so for several years. The Wilson administration gave encouragement to the independence movement.

Victor Emanuel, the king of Italy, has just made a visit to Trieste, the seaport at the head of the Adriatic which was secured from Austria in proclaimed a republic. A state of civil the late war. The desire to secure war, it is reported further, exists, and this port as well as the little piece 15 of General Wrangel's officers have of territory called the Trentino, up in the mountain section of Italy, near the Alps, was the leading cause for attaching Italy to the group of nations opposing Germany and Austria. Both places are largely inhabited by Italians but were placed under the rule of Austria by the European powers early in the Nineteenth Century. Italy always considered them as "Italia irredenta" or Italy unredeemed.

> It remains a rather noticable fact that thus far the United States is the only nation that has ratified the Treaties and Resolutions drawn up at Washington, as a whole. Some of the other nations concerned have ratified the agreement in part. It was generally supposed that causes for delay would not be so great in other countries as in the United States. One explanation which is being given is the hesitation of the nations to act until the Conference at Genoa had met. Delay is objectionable, as international affairs change quickly st times and the proper conditions for action disappear.

The Dixie Highway Park

Is ideal and desirable for home sites. It is situated on a beautiful elevation just outside the city limits, where you will have NO CITY TAX to pay and within easy walking distance of the schools, churches and business district of Berea. CANFIELD'S SPLENDID SYSTEM OF BUS LINES pass this place at frequent intervals, enabling you to go into Berea, Richmond or Lexington for less money than you could go in your own car.

A Street Scene

Ten days before this picture was made this was a plain, rather unsightly field. Today nice broad streets are graded through with shade and ornamental trees set, and you will agree when you see it that the lots are beautiful. Our California Bungalows lend additional beauty to this subdivision and we believe they will appeal to you.

California Bungalows

Four lovely California Bungalows are nearing completion in this new addition with many more contemplating building real soon. Come out and look them through any time. You will be surprised to see how attractive they are from the outside and how-convenient they are in-

BEREA'S EDUCATIONAL ADVANTAGES

Berea has the largest, most useful school in the South-one that is reaching the young people who need an education most, and who never would be able to secure one if it were not for the inexpensive course open to them. We understand that it is possible for a young man with $25.00 cash and lots of determination to secure an education which will change his station in life from an ordinary laborer to that of a business or professional man.

The association enables many poor salaried men to own homes by paying for them in small weekly or monthly payments, who never could, if they wanted to, pay cash.

Let the business people of Berea busy themselves and organize one of these institutions and see Berea grow with renewed vigor as well as help those who need it in the important question of home owning.

The Berea-McKee Road

(Editorial in The Citizen)

It is a joy for The Citizen to publish an account of the victory of the Berea-McKee road promoters. W. R. Reynolds, County Agent for Jackson county, and many of the enterprising citizens of McKee and vicinity have worked faithfully on the project of opening up McKee to the outside world.

Jackson county's part of the money was pledged before the quota of the State and Madison county had been pleaged. And now Judge Goodloe and the citizens of Berea and other parts of the county have gone on record for the road. Thru the earnest cooperation of the citizens of Jackson and Madison counties, we may look forward to enjoying an automobile journey to McKee. Sometimes those of us who have lived on automobile roads most of our lives have become hardened to the advantages they offer. We sometimes take it for granted that a good road belongs to us, and all we have to do is to ride upon it. But good roads thruout the United States have come thru hard work, thru faithfully pursuing the fight, and when once the road has been secured, money could not buy it from the citizens.

Good roads make for the comfort, prosperity, and happiness of the citizenry. But the road to McKee is not yet an actuality. It is only on paper, and unless the patriotism of every citizen is displayed in this matter the road may be lost yet.

Berea has a forward-looking population, and we confidently believe that this new road will mean more to our vicinity than any single project that has come this way in recent years.

Greensburg, Ky., May 2, 1922 Mr. Reinhardt, The Citizen, Berea, Ky.

Dear Sir: We are informed that the Henry Realty Co. will have a sale in your city. I am writing this to say that these people had two very successful sales here in March and their purchasers were well pleased with the way they were treated by Mr. Henry. We have heard no complaint from anyone, and the people here believe they did all they advertised to do. I believe these people are worthy of the confidence of the citizens of Berea.

Respectfully, J. R. WARD. Editor Green County Record,

PROGRESSING

(From The Citizen, May 11, 1922) During the past week foundations for the four modern California bungalows in the new addition called "Dixie Highway Park" have been completed. A large force of carpenters is now busily engaged in the construction of these houses which the company hopes to have under roof by Saturday night, May 13.

We visited this new addition on Sunday afternoon, and there were many citizens of Berea there looking over this property. The presence of these visitors seems to be a source of considerable pleasure to Mr. Henry, who was on the ground giving information to all, as to the future plans for this new addition to Berea.

The organizations represented were Wo-man's Club, Progress Club, Red Cross, Boy Scouts, and Y. M. C. A. The churches are interested in all movements that help make Berea a better place to live in, and especially anything that will better conditions for our boys and girls, who are soon to be the leaders of our country. It is to be hoped that we will get together more frequently to plan the largest things possible for our town. It is only by such gatherings that we get a sympathetic understanding of the work that organizations we are not connected with are doing. So the better we know each other's work, the better we can plan our work to fit in with the larger program for the whole community. ## What Will The Women Do?

Prophecies and predictions concerning the effect of woman suffrage upon the politics of America have surged back and forth between two extremes since the day the question became a real national issue. The bitter opponents of woman suffrage declared that it would mean the breaking down of the American home and the destruction of the real womanly virtues as the American men have classed them since the beginning of our republic.

The mild and somewhat passive opponents said that it would make no difference; that the average woman had rather have peace in her family than to vote her conscience, and if her husband or father was very strong in his political connections, the woman in the family would dare not go against his will.

And the ardent supporters of woman suffrage declared that the woman would represent the balance of power in American politics, and that she would be moved by individual worth of candidates and not by political affiliation. And as is the case with politics in general, the results of any election are taken as a proof of the theories advanced by the agitator.

If a machine candidate like Mayor Hylan, of New York, or Mayor Thompson, of Chicago, is elected, the opponents of woman suffrage will say, "I told you so. We are worse off than we were before woman suffrage was granted." But when two progressives of the First Water, like Albert J. Beveridge, of Indiana, and Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, are elected over strong organization candidates, and that largely by the women's vote, the advocates of woman suffrage come forward with exultation and declare that their fondest dreams are coming true.

We class ourselves with the mild advocates of woman suffrage. We claim that women are human, that sometimes they vote right and sometimes they vote wrong, but that the general tendency is for women to vote their consciences, and that they can be relied upon when the issue is open and clear-cut to follow their best judgment.

We believe that fewer women than men will sell out and that fewer women will secrete themselves behind barred doors in political caucuses concocting some sort of chicanery for the defeat of an opposing candidate regardless of how worthy he is.

The times are beginning to look right, and any man of good character with progressive tendencies may look forward for good treatment at the hands of the women voters.

The following resolution was adopted by the Association at the Thursday afternoon session:

The members of the Kentucky Valley Medical Association have learned with profound sorrow of the death on May 4, 1922, at his home in Louisville, Kentucky, of Dr. Joseph Nathaniel McCormick.

His death, after an illness of a very few days, worked a fitting close to a beautiful life. He has left an enduring monument to his memory in the hearts of those who knew him best, and in the health laws of our State, which serve as a model for the rest of the United States.

His life, more than that of most men, was devoted to unselfish service of others, and by reason of his rich endowment of mind and heart, and a truly remarkable personality, he was conspicuously successful in what he planned to accomplish. He had a vision of a great National Department with a cabinet at its Mrs. Ernberg at "The Fireside Inhead, and had he been spared but a little while longer it is not too much, to say that he might have seen the fruition of his labors in the estab-

The following is a timely little verse contributed by the Dean of the College:

Horses neighing; Circus day is here again. Big red wagons, Gilded dragons Don't these make you think of when, As a youngster, pleasure bent, You crawled in beneath the tent?

A GREAT DAY!

By this heading is meant the Memorial Day of 1922, Tuesday, May 30th. In preparation for this event, the Memorial sermon by Dr. C. Rexford Raymond on Sunday, the 28th, will be looked forward to with interest. The ordinary services at 11:00 a. m., in the several churches, will be omitted and we will have a union meeting. This will be in the College Chapel. We ought to fill it!

Tuesday, May 30th, will be full of good things. The program given in the College Chapel, at 9:00 a. m., never fails to delight the people. Naturally the exercises are largely patriotic, with enough variety to hold the attention thruout.

Following this there is to be a parade, starting at the Chapel, going out to Chestnut street, thence by Main and Estill streets to the cemetery. The College band is expected to lead, followed by the American Legion as an escort for the "boys in blue," and after the Civil War soldiers, the Woman's Relief Corps, flower girls, and citizens generally. The exercises at the cemetery will include the impressive G. A. R. program, the decoration of over forty graves of veterans and World War soldiers, band music, and the firing of a salute.

At 1:30 p. m., in the Chapel, will be a mass meeting under College auspices, presided over by President Hutchins. Citizens and students will do well to be there in force. The band will play and the men's glee club will sing. General Logan's Order establishing Memorial Day will be recited by Philip H. Sanders. Lincoln's Gettysburg address will be given by Jordan V. Bowers. Prof. L. V. Dodge will give a short address and Rev. Homer W. Carpenter, of Richmond, a longer one, both of which may be depended upon to be in line with the inspiration of That this deceased has long been the great occasion. Let's all indulge in a feast of true patriotism!

Shortly after this the World War broke out, then we gave our time and thought to war work; namely, strictly observing thrift, Hooverizing, contributing money to the Red Cross. and individually going to the Red Cross Headquarters to make bandages and dressings. We also bought a Liberty Bond and contributed to the Ambulance Fund.

Before and after the war we cooperated and contributed to the various State and Foreign calls, such as the State Federation is interested in. The war lasted four years; since that time we have more or less reorganized and our work has been largely local or community work. First: We organized a Junior

ORGANIZATION SAVES THE DAY

O. F. Troutman, a practical farmer in Kentucky, has lately written the Southern Agriculturist a letter, in which he has a great deal to say about the value of cooperation. In order that the readers of this column may know just what he said about certain pieces of cooperation in and about Lexington, the county agent has run his scissors around it and is giving it below:

The success of the Burley tobacco marketing association has given us more encouragement than anything that has come about. Have recently sold tobacco that graded 1 cent a pound for 7 cents. We organized a cooperative dairy association at Lexington, taking over a plant then selling 270 gallons a day. Have in-creased it to 700 gallons a day and have let the contract for a building occupance of the liquid. Fresh water should be added e-3,000 gallons per day. We receive the milk at butterfat prices. #### HOW TO HAVE EGGS THE YEAR AROUND

Eggs are excellent food for both old and young. They contain substances which build muscle and tissue and produce growth. They are a good substitute for meat, as they contain practically the same substances as those contained in meat When properly cooked, eggs are more easily digested than meat. They should be cooked slowly, as when cooked at a high temperature they become tough and almost indigesti-

Because eggs are such valuable food they should be used frequently in the diet the whole year around. The scarcity and high price of eggs in the winter season may seem to be an obstacle in this matter, but by preserving eggs when plentiful to be used when scarce, this difficulty may be overcome.

Probably the best way to preserve eggs is by the water-glass meth-Water-glass can be bought in the syrup or powdered form at any drug store. The power, when dissolved according to directions on the package, is more reliable than the liquid form. Only enough should be purchased to preserve the eggs you expect to put down this year. The proper proportions for mixing are 1 part water-glass (liquid) to 9 parts boiled water which has been allowed to cool. Stir the mixture thoroly and put into a perfectly clean earthenware crock, galvanized or wooden pail. The solution is now ready to receive the eggs. The following corn is as good as the yellow, for ness, and sociability to her loyal gives the sizes of jars, with approximate capacity for eggs and the amount of water-glass solution required to cover the eggs:

> Gallons Eggs Pints of Solution 3 1-2 7 1-4 120 10 3-4 160 14 1-2 200 400

During the spring and early sum mer months when eggs are most abundant and lowest in price, they are also best in quality, and this is the time when they should be preserved. Only good fresh eggs should be selected for preservation, as small weak-shelled, cracked, or dirty eggs may not keep well. Infertile eggs will keep better than fertile eggs. The surplus eggs from each day's gathering can be added to the water-glass while they are fresh, as they need not be added at one time.

After being in the solution for some time the shell becomes smooth, as the pores are filled with the silicate. When these eggs are boiled they should be punctured with a pin at the blunt end to prevent them Cattle-steers, good to choice $7.50 from breaking. In all cases they Till Might has bowed nor could Withstand the force that stood Secure and safe, God wrought. Through stormy times they fought, And now they lie In sleep.

"Allez! Allez! Les Boches!" cried the French territorials streaming back through the Second division of the American army, which had just come forward in support and relief. Fly! The Hun!" they shouted.

"Retreat, h-Il! We have just co Let the Boche retreat!" called back an officer of the American forces as he and his men rushed forward.

It was May in France, 1918, records Clara Whiteside in the Philadelphia Ledger. The French line from Soissons to Reims paralleled in a general way the line of the ancient road. Chemin des Dames, and the French defenses were so strong that the warworn gallant French armies were using middle-aged men known as territorials to hold this part of the line. Perhaps because of this, and also to make an effort to split the French and English armies, the Germans made a great attack on this sector at the end of May, and in five days had driven back the French to open country, following the great half circle of the Marne, which the Germans crossed at Dormans on the east side of the saltent at Chatean Thierry and at Belleau.

There were no trenches and no fortifications so far back from the fighting front, and the war was again in the open. Foreseeing the purpose of the German army to enter a wedge between the allied armies, Marshal Foch selected American troops to stop this advance, which at Les Meres farm and at Chateau Thierry had reached the nearest point to Paris-37 miles-since the previous advance in

The Second American division had just taken that part of the line in the neighborhood of Belleau, while at Dormans and Chateau Thierry the First and Third were holding back the Hun. Rocks and crags hid the enemy's machine guns, but in the early part of the engagement the French were virteally without artillery protection and fighting a hand-to-hand action to come. #### His offer was accepted. He had an uncanny sense of direction, and no one in the company possessed a better knowledge of wood lore. All his summers had been spent in the open, and these playtimes of earlier days had developed qualities that now stood him in good stead. The playtime of the child had become the opportunity of the man.

Creeping cautiously through the underbrush, he reached the shelter of the woods, only to find that he had stumbled on a quarry and a camp of more than sixty German soldiers. Trembling with excitement, he rushed forward. "Surrender!" he shouted "The whole American army is behind me!" Surprised, bewildered, the men marched out, under cover of the holdup, and were brought prisoners into the American line. One of the majors in the Second division wrote in June, 1918, of the death in action of this marine: "He was killed in the Bois de Belleau by a shell near where my command post was, shortly after bringing his captain out, who had been wounded in an attack we were making. The day before he went into a quarry and brought out 60 Germans as prisoners, single-handed. Such an act speaks for itself." It was by this spirit these men fought, and because of this spirit these men won. It was a dearly bought victory, but it stopped the German objective, and the enemy never again won a victory or made another drive.

Many States Share Glory.

In the little cemetery on the western edge of Relleau woods there is hardly a state in the Union not represented. There are 200 alone from Massachusetts. Belleau woods, just above the village of Belleau, where the Germans sheltered their guns, is now called the "Wood of the Marine Brigade," and what was once a lovely wooded hill is now a rocky devastation: its crown of nature's green now rows of "toothpicks" standing naked to the sky.

In Washington, in June, 1921, the plan of the Belleau Wood Memorial association to rebuild the town of Belleau by popular subscription was launched. The Belleau Woods Memoral association thinks it better to rebuild

"a house that has echoed a baby's laugh and held up its stumbling better to put a

than to erect a shaft of marble cold to the sky in memory of our dead. The national committee hopes to raise $300,000 and with this money rebuild the little town of Pelleau shattered by our boys in their advance on Belleau wood.

The plan is to rebuild the village as it was, with the addition of a better church, school, and with an-adequate water supply; the supervision will be in the hands of Col. Charles R. Forbes, director of the Veterans' bureau, who served in the A. E. F. and who is a noted engineer in civil life. Every cent faised will go into the rebuilding memorial, as the organizing expenses are being borne by a small group of contributors. The names and addresses of every contributor will be

"Marie," or city hall. Eighty-two stor buildings are to be restored, as well as a group of small farms on the hillside. The French government has promised to have all roads put into condition as their contribution, and it will be guarded by our boys who lie silent in the little green-and-white cemetery just across the way.

Homes Must Be Rebuilt. In time nature will restore to France her trees and flowered loveliness, but neither time nor nature can rebuild shattered homes. Those of us who have not been intimately touched by the horrors of war or the cruelty of sudden overwhelming separation from those we love can only approximate the sadness in the lives of those about us who have not been so fortunate. Many a mother's heart is buried and her enthusiasm deadened. It is only through some practical memorial that her interests can be roused and reawakened.

The field of honor at Belleau will be the permanent Alsne-Marne cemetery, where a shining forest of snow-white crosses will stand as sentinels over the mortal remains of 6,000 of our boys." The organization for this memorial to our dead has its headquarters in Washington, with Marshal Foch chairman for France, John W. Weeks, honorary president. The president is Mrs. James Carroll Frazer, vice president of the Navy League of the United States, and Vice President Coolidge as a member of the national committee. Mrs. Charles Lea is chairman for Pennsylvania; Mrs. Theodore W. Reath, acting chairman; Gen. W. T. Waller, executive secretary; Mrs. Helen Foster, secretary.

How Our Boys Went Into Action.

Mrs. Reath revisited France last ummer and went over all the ground in the neighborhood of Belleau. At Les Mores farm she made the acquaintance of a young Frenchman who had been severely wounded at the Battle of the Marne. "He had witnessed the advance of the American troops," said Mrs. Reath, "and his account was so graphic and bore such testimony to the truthfulness of the American correspondents who had covered the advance of the American army in 1918 and described the troops in action at Belleau, that I feel I should tell it to you as he told it to me.

"Those men were magnificent, madame! They had taken off their coats and had pinned to their shirts a poppy. As they rushed forward they yelled, and, madame, as they firedthe Germans went hipity hop! hipity hop.' This was the only English word that Frenchman knew, but it was the most expressive English word I have ever heard. It does seem incredible that our boys should have been so careless with their lives," continued Mrs. Reath, "but I have no reason to doubt the truth of the man's word, especially as it corroborated the account of our own correspondents at the time."

This memorial at Belleau is to be established to those boys-our boys; to their idealism; to their heroism that brooked no barrier. It is to be a memorial that will give to the people of this part of France a practical expression of the good-will of the American people as well as a national tribute to the men whose "souls shall be where the heroes are" and whose memory preserved in the archives of the rebuilt | shall "shine like the morning star."

Real Estate Values

Real Estate Values in Berea have increased rapidly. Ten to fifteen years ago you could buy a lot on Jackson Street for $150 to $250. Today you can't buy one for less than $1200 to $1500.

A few years ago you could buy a lot on Estill Street for $200 to $300. Today they would cost from $1200 to $2000.

Not many years back a lot on Prospect Street could be had for $300 to $400 and today the same lot would cost $1200 to $2500.

Is this not sufficient evidence for you to decide that this town and this sale would be an excellent place and time to

Invest a Little Money Where It Will Be Safe and Bring Big Returns?

That we believe this is evidenced by the fact that we came into Berea as strangers and bought land, opened up and graded nice broad streets, and built a number of real attractive and convenient California Bungalows.

One Good Lot GIVEN AWAY

Tickets will be given to all white persons who attend the sale on June 12. Don't Miss this opportunity to get a nice lot absolutely free.

Youth and Old Age

Youth

Young man, resolve early in life that you are going to own some real estate and the way will be open to you.

Practice economy, thrift, and findustry and you will soon own a home. Remember your productive period soon passes and if you fail to take advantage of it it will be too late forever.

Old Age

If you failed to lay up for a rainy day during your productive period it is now too late and you will have regret staring you in the face the rest of your life. If you have accumulated then come to Berea to enjoy the fruits of your labor and spend your declining years in the best town in the South, where you can have electric lights, water, and pleasant people to associate with.

Carelessly Drifting

How many people drift along through life paying rent and thinking that next year we will begin the inportant question of home owning and next year finds them with the same resolution, but less cash with which to begin. WE APPEAL STRONGLY to the ladies who love homes better than men do to keep after father or husband to buy a lot and build a nice new home of your own planned according to your own ideas.

Don't Wait Until You're Ready. Begin Now.

Get Away from the Rent Collector

You ask, "Is it profitable to own a home?" and the answer is that the average landlord is a man of wealth and his tenants are helping to make him so.

Some Figures for Your Consideration

It costs you to live in a rented house for ten years at $15.00 per month, including interest, $1,980.00; at $20.00 per month, $2,544.00; at $25.00 per month, $3,180.00.

In many instances the house you have rented was not worth what you have paid in rent and still the landlord holds the title.

ATTRACTIONS

We are graduating an unusually large and strong A.B. class. You should be on hand to welcome them into the ranks of the Alumni. The boys and girls of all the schools will try to excel you as platform orators and essayists. The Vocational School will show you why you have failed in keeping a farm, bank, or dairy.

We shall hear messages from some of our old teachers and comrades. President Frost, Elmer Gabbard, Hezekiah Washburn will tell us of old days, and of new tasks in Berea, Buckhorn and the Belgian Congo.

Raymond Robins, seeker of gold in Alaska and in the hearts of men in the heart of Chicago; Dr. Shannon, successor of Dr. Gunsaulus, will widen our intellectual horizons.

Best of all, crowds of the old boys and girls will be here. of State Institutions Noted Entertained by Miss Neville The College Class in Social Service Training made a trip to Lexington on last Monday, visiting a number of public institutions. They spent several hours visiting the Lincoln School, the Fayette County Tuberculosis Sanitorium, the Eastern State Hospital for the Insane, and the State School of Reform at Greendale. The party consisted of fifteen members, who were guests of Miss Linda Neville for luncheon. She entertained them in royal style at her beautiful home on Main street, together with one or two other guests from the University, who were interested in similar lines of work.

The party from Berea consisted of Miss Amy Jo Burns, Margaret Davis, Inez Caudill, Rosa Houck, Elizabeth University and Mrs. Columbia White, Wm. J. Hutchins Field Representative of the American Red Cross, with headquarters at Lexington.

H. Ben. Kirk ran one of the prethe finished third, but the winner broke the State record by several seconds, and Kirk was not far behind. This is Kirk's first year at the track game and good things can thus be expected of him in the future. Swango finished third in the two-mile run. This was a hot, gruelling race, and "Jeff" acquitted himself in good shape. This was his last race for Berea, as he will graduate this year. In the field events "Pat" Moran tied for second in the high jump. "Pat's" easy form won much applause from
